Gallery at Greencroft

Featuring: Lea Doise & Lizzie Dudley

Lea Doise is an artist from central Virginia. Being an artist and creating is one of her greatest joys and allows her to study the often overlooked aspects of the world around her, closely observing its patterns, textures, shapes, colors, and most importantly, all of the emotions that are evoked by these observations.

Creating works helps her to better reconnect with her reflective, inner-self, that quiet voice which prompts her to ponder our place in an ever-changing universe that contains such beauty. She learned to paint at an early age by painting alongside her grandmother. Lea has self guided her artist education by always seeking out more information about what inspires her. She has attended numerous painting workshops, classes, and online tutorials along with constantly reading about art and past artists. She has a passion for plein air painting which also greatly influences her work.

Lizzie ended a successful career as a Financial Advisor to raise 2 children. With both kids in college, she started painting in 2015, and launched a second career as an oil painter. She calls herself a "left-brained" artist, with the need to finish one painting before starting another. Lizzie loves to work en plein air, in her studio from photographs, and happily does commissions as well. She loves to travel to France and Italy to gather inspiration for new works. Her strength is color mixing, and she loves to paint the colors of the Caribbean, the Blue Ridge Mountains and any subject that is loaded with color. Lizzie has had several shows in Charlottesville Virginia, her hometown, and has also participated in group shows. She been mentoring for the past few years with renowned artist Lori Putnam, and travels frequently for plein air retreats with groups of artists to hone her plein air painting skills. Lizzie works primarily with oils and also paints with oil and cold wax in her studio. She was one of 17 open category artists selected for the special exhibit at the forgotten coast plein air in port St. Joe Florida.

Annual Meeting

Wednesday, June 4th | 5:30PM

Please join us for the Greencroft Annual Meeting to hear about the Club's performance during 2024.

Certificate holders will be electing two new Board Members to replace two members who have finished two terms. The current Board has nominated Elizabeth Oakland and Richard Lam to fill those seats. There are also one current Board Member, David Reynolds, who is up for re-election to a second term. If you would like to see last year's financials before the meeting, please call or email Katy. If you can not attend this year's meeting, please sign and return your proxy card to the Club.

Liz Oakland works for CFA Institute as a consultant and relationship manager of non-profit boards on a range of areas: strategic planning, governance, organizational effectiveness, membership retention, and operational efficiency. The organizations she supports have anywhere from 50 - 2,000 members worldwide. Liz's decade of working with local CFA Societies across the globe has given her a deep appreciation for the importance of volunteer board service as well as a bank of experience helping boards navigate some of the common challenges encountered by smaller, non-profit organizations and foundations.

Liz was born and raised in Richmond, Va. She received her B.A. from UVA where she majored in both English Literature and History. She has a Master's degree in Early Modern English Literature from Oxford University. Liz managed the campus recruitment and the college internship program for a technology start-up in Washington, DC. Liz and her husband, Milo, live in Ivy with their two daughters, Zoe and Emi, who are eagerly counting down the days until the Greencroft pool opens for the summer.

Richard Lam recently retired as partner at Property Markets Group (PMG), a national real estate development firm. Prior to retirement, Richard and his wife, Julie, relocated from New York to Charlottesville. The Lams have two children: Richard, a recent graduate of Michigan State University, and Caitlin, a recent graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Since moving to Charlottesville in 2022, Richard and Julie have been active members of the Greencroft Club enjoying many socials: Bingo, Trivia, special dinners, etc. A pickleball enthusiast, Richard can be found on the courts most days and currently serves on the Racquets Committee. He is also a member of The Concession Golf Club in Bradenton, Florida.

Don't forget to make your reservations for dinner following the meeting!
